Perry Overwhelms Crawford To Win Wimbledon Title

Young Englishman Brings Tennis Championship Back to Old Country After Twenty-five Years; Defending Champion From Australia Beaten 6-3, 6-0, 7-5

Canadian Press

Wimbledon, England, July 6.—Frederick John Perry, twenty-six-year-old Englishman, today defeated John Crawford of Australia, the defending champion, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5, in the men's singles final of the all-England tennis championships to keep the title in England for the first time in twenty-five years.

It was the year Perry was born.

A. W. Gore, one of the youngest members of the International Tennis Court, won the Wimbledon championship. Since then the stars of Australia, France and the United States have monopolized the titles.

The tall, dark-haired Englishman was not to be denied as he uncoiled one of the most blistering games the famous centre court has witnessed in years to literally blast the Australian ace off the courts.

CRAWFORD'S "JINX."

It was the third championship meeting between the two within the year and every time Perry has won. He first defeated Crawford in the United States championships last September, then went to Australia and stripped Jack of his Antipodean crown.

Perry required only an hour and eighteen minutes to complete his conquest.

Perry had his service broken only twice and at one stretch ran twelve straight games, during which he lost only sixteen points.

Perry took the first set 6-3 after Crawford had 4-1.

Crawford controlled the early play to run into 2-1 lead in games. Perry began going to the net and raking the Australian's court with a cross-court slice which had Crawford chasing all over the place.

Perry also won the second set 6-5, allowing the defending champion only seven points.

As the second set opened, Perry rushed all over the court smacking serving aces, driving Crawford to cover under a continuous fire of blinding shots.

CRAWFORD NEAR SET

Crawford rallied to make a grand fight of the third set, breaking Perry's service in the ninth game to take a 3-2 lead in games and was within two sets of victory when set 24, 6-4. Perry again lifted his play.

B.C. REALTORS NOW TOTAL 668

List of Licensed Agents Compiled Show 129 in Victoria

British Columbia now has 668 real estate agents and salesmen licensed to do business in the province under the Real Estate Agents' Licensing Act. It is shown in a list issued by H. G. Garrett, superintendent of insurance, to-day. Perry took out licenses in the year ending June 30.

Victoria has 139 of these and Vancouver 530.

During the year, the record shows, eight licenses were suspended by reason of the agents ceasing to be employed by a licensed agent; three were voluntarily surrendered for some reason. Five were suspended for dereliction of duty.

Fourteen licenses were cancelled or revoked for the same reason. There were no suspensions pursuant to inquiries under the act.

Salmon Pack More Than Double 1933

B.C.'s Fisheries in For a Better Year With Sockeye Leading the Way

Pilchard Prospects Good; Fishermen Get Higher Price This Year

British Columbia fisheries this year are headed for a substantial advance in production, according to a review of figures up to the end of the first six months issued yesterday through the Department of Fisheries.

There were those striking features about the situation first, the sockeye salmon pack to date is more than 100 per cent greater than last year; the pack of all varieties is double what it was at this time in 1933, and the early appearance of packed-off fish.

The crowd later dispersed.

Victoria, July 6.—Several hundred windows in the Stearns and Foster textile mills in Victoria and Lockland were broken early to-day as a crowd of approximately 1,200 persons surrounded the plant, scene of a strike.

NEW SITE SOON FOR BRITISH ARSENAL

London, July 6.—Plans drawn up by military authorities for removal of the Woolwich Arsenal to some part of the country less exposed to air attacks are being considered by the government, it was officially admitted to the Canadian Press to-day.

This precaution follows the continued failure of attempts to secure a disarmament convention at Geneva.

No new site for the famous arsenal has been chosen.

During the Great War Woolwich

Arsenal suffered heavily from German air raids.

INDIAN BOYS RETURN HERE

Albany Brothers Paddled Forty Miles; Ready to Try Trip Next Year

"Here we are going to try it again next year," said Frank and John Albany, Indian brothers, when they were greeted here to-day after a night's rest following their harrowing experiences on Wednesday night, when they were believed lost while taking part in the Victoria-Port Angeles canoe marathon.

The boys said they landed on San Juan Island after they had decided to run with the wind instead of bucking it in their dugout.

"I cannot believe that any premier, not even Mr. Bennett, can stand up against the moral compulsion of the vote in the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections," he said.

"The Conservative majority in the House to-day is absolutely meaningless and Mr. Bennett knows it. His following no longer represents the will and wish of the Canadian people.

The fact that he has kept him from the front bench is the result of the rank and file of the Conservative Party, which knows defeat is inevitable and wants to stave off the evil day as long as possible," said Mr. Mackenzie.

TO MEET PROBLEMS

Vancouver, July 6.—Canada needs more of the spirit of 1914 in meeting the problems of to-day. Hon. Ian MacKenzie, M.P. for Vancouver Centre, who has returned from Ottawa.

He said: "We must meet our responsibilities and tackle the job because it is written in the Constitution that a Liberal administration would soon be in power in Ottawa again.

In his subject, "Twenty Years After, 1914-1934," Capt. Mackenzie contrasted conditions before the Great War with those of to-day.

He said: "We call to-day the youth of Canada to take a more active part in national affairs; a national crusade to deal practically with the problem of unemployment; a crusade to meet problems.

Troops Guard San Francisco Piers

NO RETREAT PANNS
"We are not going to retreat from the waterfront," declared Ralph Mallen, the national association publicity committee man. "We are going ahead and expect to obtain plenty of help from all other unions toward a general strike."

The national guardmen were spectators ordered by California's acting Governor, Frank F. Merriam, to protect life and property and maintain order along the five and a half mile San Francisco waterfront. They were under orders, issued by Adjutant-General Seth E. Howard, to do no shooting "until there is evidence of an attack on you or upon state property."

IN FERRY BUILDING

Headquarters of the national guard were established in the Ferry Building, located at the foot of Market Street midway in the long line of piers stretching in a semi-circle along the waterfront.

In the headquarters were installed radio and telephone communications so the guardmen on waterfront duty can be dispatched immediately to any spot in the area should rioting occur.

Colonel C. D. O'Sullivan, intelligence officer of the national guard, declared the guardmen were not "greenhorns," as most of the men had been in the guard at least a year and many for longer service.

KILLED BY BULLETS

Howard Sperry, forty-nine, a striking longshoreman, and George Coul-lombe, forty-five, identified as a member of the Cooks' and Waiters Union here and reported to be connected with the International Labor League, died from bullet wounds suffered in the fighting yesterday afternoon.

Joseph Sperry, a bullet-wound, was struck in the head by a bullet while riding in through the strike zone in a street car. A number of other non-combatants were among the injured.

From Rincon Hill the fighting yesterday swept down the waterfront area to the International Long-shoremen's Association headquarters and to Stewart and Market Streets.

The most savage fighting was around the I.L.A. headquarters, during which the two men were killed and most of the injuries were suffected.

NAZIS READY FOR NEW MOVE

ported to have met to-day in the Wedding district of Berlin, former stronghold of communists, and to have shouted "revenge!"

This and other indications of a possible alliance between Germany and France were traced to prove and for all that "the iron fist and strong will rule Germany."

Further disquieting although unsubstantiated reports from the German provinces of renewed anti-Jewish activities and events which have disturbed Catholics were heard in Berlin.

SWING TO RIGHT

An important victory for the conservative element of the Nazi government was seen to-day in the granting of almost autocratic commercial powers to Kurt Schmitt, Minister of Finance.

He is authorized to impose unlawful fines on persons and institutions who refuse to obey his orders.

The new commercial law enables Schmitt to deal summarily with a number of matters, including economic reprisals by other nations because of Berlin's debtanderances.

One source reported Schmitt had urged a modification of the anti-Jewish programme because of the effect of foreign boycotts.

The Jewish Telegraph Agency said:
"A new campaign of agitation against the Jewish population" was underway "in Berlin and the provinces."
Berlin was believed to have decided on during Hitler's recent conferences with the Nazi Party's inner council partially as a measure of preparation for the eventual disbanding of the existing troops.

TO ISSUE STATEMENT

Chancellor Hitler, the Nazi press department said, was preparing a long communiqué on the mutiny and the way he suppressed it. It was said the line of dead would be informed of a statement to appear in a few days.

A Nazi party meeting at Pflan-zheim yesterday stressed the theme that with the revolution over, there was work to be done. There were reverberations of the French protest against Hitler's reference to "foreign power." The British University students called at the Foreign Office and the Swiss embassy protested against a Nazi ban on Swiss newspapers.

THREATS OF GENERAL STRIKE
Threats of a general strike of some 25,000 union workers at Kent were made after increasing tension between police and miners particularly in breaking up a strike demonstration against railway tank car movements at pier.

Several shots were fired over the heads of the strikers after a wild melee in which police swung night clubs and were shown with stones.
Miners, who had been on both sides were injured.

ON ATLANTIC COAST

New York, July 6.—A strike of Atlantic coast longshoremen, in sympathy with the Pacific coast strike, was contemplated to-day by Joseph F. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association.

"We cannot be expected to keep our men at work on the Atlantic coast if our enemies who are calling out to do the same thing want a decent system of hiring," he said.

SIX DEATHS

San Francisco, July 6.—The United States Pacific Coast's seafaring maritime strike, which started May 8, has claimed six lives in disorders here, at San Pedro and at Seattle.

Three men died here. They were Augustine, forty-four, a stevedore, four, a sailor who died of a fracture

CROP OUTLOOK ON PLAINS IMPROVES

Early Change Of Government

New Liberal Cabinet to Take Office in Saskatchewan

July 19

Regina, July 6.—The Anderson government will retire from office
July 19.

The date was definitely set at a conference to-day between Premier
J. T. M. Anderson and J. G. Gardiner, Premier-elect.

Only the date of his retirement could be learned from Premier Anderson, but a more lengthy statement is expected from him later.

"Any day now," said Mr. Gardiner following the conference meeting, "will have to come from Premier Anderson. That was the arrangement between us."

Mr. Gardiner, who stated he would leave immediately for Estevan, said he had no time to discuss the details of the arrangement.

He said just how soon he would have to go up, he said when reminded he had previously intimated to the House he would be assembled either in September or October. The Premier-elect said he could not say when asked if it were possible the session would be called before September.

boon to the crop.

While winged grasshoppers are now appearing, an effective poisoning campaign, aided by cool, showery their depredations, with the damage recently confined to stubble and spring plowed crops.

C.N.R. REPORT

Winnipeg, July 6.—Continuation of favorable crop conditions on the prairies during the last week is noted in to-day's weekly report issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway's agricultural department.

The outlook remains on a much improved level, and generally progress at this time is above last year.
With Alberta enjoying the most improved conditions, the report says.

In southern Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan, where wheat fields were sown thin, and where heavy improvement has been noted during the last several weeks.

Cool temperatures and frequent rainfalls featured the last week in all three provinces. From 15 to 25 per cent of the wheat is headed out at various points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and 25 to 30 per cent in Alberta.

Warmer weather would now be an advantage in the northern sections of the three provinces, says the report.

C.N.R. REPORT

Winnipeg, July 6.—Continuation of favorable weather prevailed over the prairie crop growing areas during the week, with the result that in areas where rainfall has been scanty crops, while not making much progress, show no deterioration. Grasshoppers, although frequent, are not numerous, and the weather continues generally to show improvement over previous reports, according to the weekly crop report of the agricultural department of the Canadian National Railways.

Manitoba crops, with the exception of the southwestern corner, have improved although some points still require more rain.

In southwestern Saskatchewan weather has been cool with scattered showers and heavy winds. In the southern parts rain is required at once to ensure sufficient food for the young grain in the coming winter. Grasshoppers are causing considerable damage.

South Central Alberta conditions show improvement, but there again grasshoppers are causing damage. North central prairie reports optimistic concerning the future, but no timely development of better weather than average crop will come from that territory.

Grains in the Peace River are making good progress after heavy rain. Wheat has started thickly and is now heading out.

BARTHOU'S VISIT

The forthcoming visit of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, also was mentioned.

Mr. Baldwin answered with a curt negative when asked if he had brought any news concerning the British government's contemplated making any arrangement, or had made any arrangement with France without consultation with the League of Nations with reference to mutual action in the event of hostilities breaking out in Europe.

(The Paris Herald this week said the British cabinet was working on an alliance with France and that M.
Barthou's visit was in this connection.)

Late Mme. Curie

St. Etienne, France, July 6.—Mme. Marie Curie was buried to-day as she had lived in the utmost simplicity. There was a ten-minute ceremony without a civil or religious ritual. Her frail-wasted body, which she devoted to science, was placed in a simple oak casket into the same grave with that of her husband in a crowded and least expensive part of the little village cemetery.

Both of the twenty-five laboratory assistants and 150 friends and scientists who were invited to an automobile service brought the coffin, placed a rose on the closed coffin in walking by.

The two daughters of Mme. Curie, heavily veiled and wearing black, and a son-in-law, stood nearby and received condolences.

RAIL LINK WITH FERNIE TO END

Washington, July 6.—The Great Northern Railway Company moved to-day to abandon its sixty-mile branch railroad from Rexford, Montana, to Fernie, British Columbia.

It asked the Canadian Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the eight miles of the road lying in the United States and said arrangements were being made for discontinuing service north of the boundary. The road is a separate corporation and under the laws of British Columbia. The application said that for many years both the United States and Canadian sections had been operated at a loss.

POLICE PLAN

Metropolitan Force; Replies

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 6.—Plans for creation of a metropolitan police force on the lower mainland are dead as long as Attorney-General Sloan insists on appointing the commissioner of a department who would administer it, Mayor L. D. Taylor stated to-day.

"He may attempt to force Vancouver police control out of civic jurisdiction would be fought with all the power at his command,"

Mr. Taylor said. "Hands off Vancouver" policy, the mayor declared he would personally take the platform against the "intrusion" of provincial authority. "I would perhaps find enough Vancouverites to support his position," he continued.

"I was the Attorney-General that if he attempted that, the citizens of Vancouver—and I believe I represent a large proportion of them—will oppose him."

When he had a metropolitan force under discussion some time ago Mr. Sloan said it would have to be run from the Attorney-General's office. He told him there was no further use discussing the matter, "said the mayor. "As far as I am concerned on that basis, I was opposed to any political force for Vancouver. We have never had one here since the city's inception and the police force has never entered into politics and never will if I can help it."

The mayor added he understood the government had in mind the appointment of a directing official at $15,000 a year. He forecast that any such official would have no knowledge of police matters.

"There are no commanding officers to a military man, I might add that as far as I have seen, where military men have been appointed in the United States they have been failures in police work."

CANADA'S FISHERIES

RECENTLY THE SPECIAL SENATE committee which has been studying the effects of taxation relating to Pacific Coast fisheries submitted a unanimous report that the convention between the Dominion and the United States for the preservation of the North Pacific halibut fishery "has in the few years of its operation already given proof of the gradual rehabilitation of this industry" and that the Pelagic Sealing Treaty "has accomplished its chief object, namely, the building up of a large and satisfactory herd." The committee "commended" the sealing treaty for what it has accomplished and, with reference to the halibut convention, pointed out that instead of a gradual depletion of the fishery "as before the treaty's enactment, there is now a decided trend in the opposite direction."

Touching the other treaty which was under consideration, the Sockeye Salmon Treaty, the committee expressed regret that ratification had been delayed by the United States and recommended that the Dominion government draw the attention of the United States authorities to the loss being suffered in both countries because Washington has not ratified the agreement.

As regards the Halibut Treaty, the committee says: If and when the treaty comes up for revision the matter of markets should be included in the points considered. Sharing the expenses for the maintenance of the fishery should be followed by the sharing of markets, and if all tariffs were removed from halibut catches in both countries, the industry, internationally built up on a fifty-fifty basis, could market the product economically on an equal basis also."

A large percentage of those interested in the industry suggested that the powers of the Halibut Commission might be increased so that there might be control of the fishing vessels and the catch extended over the entire season, and the committee recommends that these additional powers be given. "Since the Hecate Strait waters are Canadian," any revision of the treaty should exclude the strait from its terms or allot Canadians a fixed percentage of the fish to be taken from all the treaty areas.

There is grave danger to the sockeye fishery, as is well known on this coast, unless the treaty, already ratified by Canada, is made operative through United States ratification. Operation of the treaty would not only prevent sockeye depletion but the joint propagation effort provided for under its terms would make the fishery "a more profitable and permanent industry to the people of the two countries."

A further suggestion made in the report is that the federal and provincial authorities should co-operate to extend the stocking of suitable inland waters with sport fish.

MOSLEY FASCISM

UNTIL QUITE RECENTLY FASCISM IN Great Britain was considered to be a joke, and not a very good joke at that. To-day it is attracting a good deal of serious attention. What will it be to-morrow?

As the basis for a reasoned answer to this question, writes Mr. Harold E. Scarborough in The Literary Digest, it might be well to recapitulate some of the facts concerning the British Fascist movement before its emergence into the glare of publicity—which the press of the world turned upon its two recent monster mass meetings at the Royal Albert Hall and at Olympia. Exactly what is this new development? Who is behind it? Will it eventually pass into the limbo of lost causes; or will some future Prime Minister adorn the government front bench of the House of Commons by appearing in a black shirt instead of in the hitherto more favored morning coat? And if this happens, will debate be cut short by throwing out the opposition speakers, as the interrupters of Sir Oswald Mosley's Olympia meeting were "bounced"? Says Mr. Scarborough further:

It took a long time for anything in the nature of Fascism to make its appearance in England. The Black-Shirt movement, as it exists now, is chiefly the creation of Sir Oswald Mosley. The number of its adherents is uncertain, its organizers claiming 750,000; and its opponents tending to assert that this figure is far too high. Its funds are said to be derived from voluntary contributions, but no list of contributors ever has been published. The official date of its foundation is 1932; but for practical purposes it has been under public notice for only about a year.

Early this year Mosley "pulled off" a coup by enlisting the support of Viscount Rothermere, erratic, but influential, proprietor of The London Daily Mail. There was much in the Mosley brand of Fascism which appealed to the semi-educated, lower middle-class people who make up the greater part of the clientele of such newspapers.

It may be that there is sympathy in Tory quarters with Fascism. The Conservatives have noted that the "black coated worker," who in Canada is the white collar man, is wondering about things, which is quite natural, since he has been hard hit by the depression.

But Mosley's programme has given him pause. Let Mosley tell it in his own words:

"The Black Shirts will give the government complete power of action by order (i.e. by decree) subject to the right of an elected Parliament to dismiss it by a vote of censure. Parliament will be called only at regular intervals, to review the work of the government; but future Parliaments will be elected on an occupational and not a geographical franchise: Thereafter the life of the government will depend on the vote of the people at regular intervals."

ALBERTA HAS A NEW PREMIER

A is Hon. R. G. Reid, formerly Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Mines. He succeeds Premier Brownlee who recently was involved in a legal action, and who resigned as a result of it.

Mr. Reid was born in Scotland, but came to Canada in 1903, and he will be the only non-native born holding a provincial premiership. He is a farmer and was first elected to the Alberta Legislature in 1921. Upon the formation of the Greenfield ministry in August of that year he was appointed Minister of Municipal Affairs and Minister of Health, and at the by-election he was confirmed in office by an acclamation. He was re-elected at the general election of 1926 and 1930.

It was generally expected that Hon. George Headley, Minister of Health, would have been chosen to succeed Premier Brownlee. The political fate, however, have decreed otherwise.

It is more than four years since the last provincial general election in Alberta, and it will be interesting to learn whether the new Premier will go to the country for endorsement.

The standing of parties at the end of last year was as follows: Farmers, thirty-eight; Liberals, ten; Conservatives, six; Labor, four; Independents, four; vacancy, one.

HORSE AND MULE DAYS

WE ARE TOLD BY THE HORSE AND Mule Association of the United States that the horse and mule business enjoyed more prosperity during the last twelve months than any period since the war. Farmers, realizing horses are ultimate consumers of farm products, are depending more on animal power, it is claimed. And now saddle interests are considering a drive to arouse interest in horseback riding. There are still over 15,000,000 horses and mules to be found in harness in the United States, despite mechanization trends,

FOR FAILURE OF A TRUST

A FEDERAL COURT JURY IN NEW York has convicted one, Joseph W. Harriman, of misappropriation of funds and other misdeeds in connection with the failure of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Co. One commentator says:

"The verdict simply confirms the widespread public belief that one of the factors leading up to our late lamented banking crisis was the personal failure of some of the bankers as individuals."

"It would be exceedingly unjust to blame the whole banking debacle on shortcomings such as those of which Mr. Harriman stands convicted. There was a vast number of contributory causes, and many bankers of complete probity saw their banks collapse through no fault of their own."

"Nevertheless, it remains true that the era culminating in the banking holiday of 1933 was marked by many instances in which bankers forgot their duty to their depositors and to the public at large. The Harriman verdict is a reminder that in at least some of these cases the bankers can be held accountable."

MODERN GIRL VINDICATED

THE MODERN GIRL IS JUST AS ADMIRABLE a person as her mother was at the same age, and in some respects she is a good deal nicer. This is on the word of Sister Laurence, director of nursing in St. Francis' Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Attending a convention of the Catholic Hospital Association of Canada and the United States, Sister Laurence told how she has had direct supervision of more than 800 girls trained as nurses in the St. Francis training school.

"We get these girls at the flapper age," she said, "and they are as fine a lot of girls as anyone would want to meet. There is no reason to believe all the things said about modern girls. Some of them may have vices, but they are no worse than the girls of other generations."

"This is what you might call expert testimony in the modern girl's favor."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAYCANADIAN NEWS AT SEA

The Ottawa Journal

Some months ago The Journal mentioned the desirability of providing for ships at sea on the Atlantic a service of Canadian news such as has been available to some in Pacific shipping. The subject came more or less under discussion, as a result of views expressed by Mr. H. E. M. Chisholm, director of publicity for the Department of Trade and Commerce, when he was a witness before the tourist traffic committee of the Senate recently.

Mr. Chisholm pointed out that a daily service of Canadian and British news, supplied by The Canadian Press at a nominal charge, is transmitted from the Marine Department's station at Estevan, British Columbia, to outgoing and incoming Pacific liners. It has been found that these reports are copied as far as 2,000 to 3,000 miles out on the Pacific, and news, as Mr. Chisholm said, being "one of the best kinds of propaganda," the value of such daily wireless messages, largely supplementing in British ships the service from the United States which used to have the field to itself, is once apparent.

There is no comparable service on the Atlantic because the only wireless station through which it might be transmitted—it is at Glace Bay—is privately operated and Parliament never has made provision for financing the plan. As a result most of the news available to Atlantic ships has its origin in the United States and "passenger" from this and other British countries are deprived of the reports which would most interest them.

The Canadian Press is willing to co-operate on the Atlantic as it has co-operated on the Pacific, to make available for wireless transmission a complete summary of the day's important events. In this matter of ship news, as in the transmission of news summaries over Canadian radio broadcasting stations, The Canadian Press has shown unselfishness and public spirit, a fine sense of its responsibility to the people.

Loose Ends

Mr. DODD UNDERSTANDS STATISTICS but is weak on figures. The House of Commons asks an obvious question and is therefore called uniformly ignorant—Mr. Cobb tells how to get rich—and a noxious plot is discovered next door.

By H. B. W.

BANKER'S DREAM

Mr. JACKSON DODD, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, lately told them in England that when women "decide to develop once again those curves which are now coming back into fashion" then there will be no trouble marketing Canada's wheat crop, prosperity will return and everything will be lovely.

This shows you the fine optimism of our stout Canadian bankers. Apparently Mr. Dodd, more expert with his ledger than with his figure, imagines that women are going to expand and contract, like bank credit, just because it happens to be convenient and profitable for the nation that they should do so. Unhappily, I see no sign of it.

The Mae West boom was sudden and staggering, but it is passing and will be forgotten by Christmas. Curves aren't coming back. The Russian-famine figure remains the standard article in Hollywood and that is the centre of the world's most glittering anatomy. Mr. Dodd can expand the real money of the nation at will, or contract it, but he is not going to influence or deflate the fashion as he chooses. He and his fellows may control the economy of the world and tell governments how much they can spend. They may do what they like with us men and hold our fate in the hollow of their hands. But our women are made of sterner stuff.

No law of economics, no bankers' mandate, no earthly power is going to tell them whether they are to eat bread or not. Only Hollywood can tell them that, and Hollywood is utterly unreliable. The trouble with our Canadian economy is that it is based on the Mae West figure. Our farms were laid out on the assumption that there would be curves to absorb them.

Also, it turns out that our whole prosperity now hangs upon the figure of the movies' latest star—and all of them, except Miss West, are evidently thicker than a stick of dynamite. Altogether, if that is the best Mr. Dodd can suggest, he had better stick to his statistics and leave figures to take care of themselves.

ULULATION

THE COLONIST lately published an inspired editorial on Mr. Dodd's speech, and rallied to his theories in routing style. Also it condemned the "almost sublime ignorance" of the Banking Committee of the House of Commons, which recently questioned Mr. Dodd and other bankers in connection with the highly odorous new central bank scheme. Well, I guess no bankster, no earthly power is going to tell them whether they are to eat bread or not. Only Hollywood can tell them that, and Hollywood is utterly unreliable. The trouble with our Canadian economy is that it is based on the Mae West figure. Our farms were laid out on the assumption that there would be curves to absorb them.

Altogether, if that is the best Mr. Dodd can suggest, he had better stick to his statistics and leave figures to take care of themselves.

Mr. Dodd and The Colonist think that the committee was pretty ignorant when it started, but by the time I listened to it for two days, it had learned considerably. If had learned, or part of it had, that most of the information given to it by the bankers was more sublime than its own ignorance.

Mr. Dodd and The Colonist think that the committee was almost impotent when it started. Well, I guess no bankster, no earthly power is going to tell them whether they are to eat bread or not. Only Hollywood can tell them that, and Hollywood is utterly unreliable. The trouble with our Canadian economy is that it is based on the Mae West figure. Our farms were laid out on the assumption that there would be curves to absorb them.

We wish to acknowledge that St. Aidan's congregation alone, could not have done this. While practically all the members of the church have made contributions, yet it is because of the wonderful additional response of so many outside our church that we are in our present happy position.

The public certainly hasn't the faintest notion. It still thinks that the currency of the nation consists of neat discs of silver and little square pieces of green paper, all of which actually are only 10 per cent.

COUNCIL TO MAKE GRANT

Saanich Body Agrees to Assist Trustees With Financing of New School

The Saanich Council will contribute not more than $2,000 towards the construction of a school to replace the McKenzie Avenue institution, destroyed by fire several weeks ago. The grant will be made on the condition that the new building costs no more than $20,000, and if the cost is less the reduction is to be deducted from the council grant.

This decision was reached on a split vote of the council, with Councillors H. D. Colton and L. C. Morgan voting against after making their amendment that the council grant $2,000.

The financing of the new school was discussed at length between the councillors and Trustees Albert E. Mull and S. R. Brydon, secretary of the board.

In a letter to the council the trustees explained that they intended to replace the old building, a five-room structure on the old foundation, at a cost of not more than $20,000. The insurance on the building had totalled $6,700.

All intending builders are accordingly notified that all proposed improvements must be brought to the attention of the building inspector.

Reeve Crouch asked if the school was insured to its full value, and was told by Trustee Mull that no more could have been raised even if the property had been greater.

In regard to the present arrangements for transporting the 180 McKenzie Avenue School pupils to Tolmie and Lake Hill Schools, it was explained that $225 a month, which would soon consume all of the $2,000 budgeted.

"How much of our $2,000 have you spent?" asked the reeve, referring to the amount which the board had received as half of the government grant for the increased schedule for teacher salaries provided in the previous government estimates.

"About $1,500," replied Mr. Brydon.

"What are you going to do with the other $1,000?" asked the reeve, and he was told the board intended carrying out some planned improvements at Craigflower School at an approximate cost of $1,000.

GOVERNMENT AIDS SLIGHTLY

It was also pointed out that the government aid had been small because there had only been $28,000 budgeted this year for assistance of municipalities.

Reeve Crouch suggested the trustees might forego proposed Craigflower improvements, and basing his estimate thusly said: "You have $6,700 from insurance, $1,000 left from the government grant and $400 from government aid. Couldn't you manage to get along with $1,000 from the council?"

Councillors H. D. Colton and L. C. Morgan attacked the board's action in providing increases in school teachers' salaries this year, which is estimated to cost the trustees about $212.

The reeve pointed out, however, that this was merely the necessary cost of a minimum grade of education that increments would be granted when they accepted salary reductions totaling $10,000.

The reeve warned that the council would have to be careful about the amount of money it spent for the year did not look too promising according to tax returns to date.

He suggested that payment of the additional amount needed above that which the board had, might be deferred until next year, when it might be included in the budget.

INFRACTIONS OF BUILDING LAWS

Infraction of building regulations by Saanich property owners who have failed to secure permits for improvements have been brought to the attention of the municipal council, which has intimated drastic action will follow future cases.

It was pointed out that in many instances the improvements effected by the builders were illegal.

All intending builders are accordingly notified that all proposed improvements must be brought to the attention of the building inspector.

Successful Concert Staged at Lake Hill

A successful concert was given in the Lake Hill band hall by the Lake Hill C.G.I.T. on Friday evening last. A drama entitled "The Gift" ably directed by Miss E. P. Winslow, was presented by the "Sunbeam" group, the following playing their parts well: Therese Glover, Lillian Fletcher, Muriel Pendray, Phyllis Mains, Muriel Armstrong and Dorcas Muir.

Recitations by Marian Bennington and Joyce Pendray were enjoyed. Mrs. Flight delighted the audience with two readings.

The "Garden City Bucaroons," as the artists gave a lively programme of comedy songs and music, which was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Hadland, superintendent of Saanich school, spoke a few words on behalf of the school and the girls' work at the mission.

Mrs. Clarke gave a hearty vote of thanks to all who had assisted in the concert, and to all who had aided in getting stage fixtures and helped in other ways.

The programmes closed with all the C.G.I.T. girls singing "Follow the Gleam" and "Taps."

Doreen Pendray presided. Proceeds of the concert will be used for the camp fund.

over the signature of S. P. Tolmie, assured the marketing of the debuts.

Luxton

The monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute was held Tuesday evening in Luxton Hall with a good attendance. Mrs. H. A. Baxter presided. Correspondence from the secretary treasurer acknowledged from the Salvation Army for a recent donation and a request for delegates to attend the Federated Council of Youth convention being held July 13 at the Memorial Hall. Five delegates were appointed. Final arrangements were made for the annual meeting to be held in Luxton Hall next Wednesday. William B. White Seeks Inquiry into Alleged Action of Chief Rankin Alleging he was the victim of an unprovoked assault by Chief of Police Allan Rankin during an unemployed gathering at the municipal hall, an inquiry into the police head's actions by the municipal council was sought by William B. White, in a letter read yesterday evening.

Following the disturbance at the hall several weeks ago, Mr. White and P. D. Wilson appeared in police court and were charged with obstructing a police officer in performance of his duty. The case was dismissed, after the defence had produced a number of witnesses who testified the chief had assaulted the defendant White.

In his letter, Mr. White outlined circumstances of the incident and demanded an inquiry.

He was advised that his only recourse for any redress was through the police court.

CANDY-PACKET CAR ON VIEWStrange Vehicle Introduces Life Saver's Newest Product to Victoria Public

Considerable comment has been caused in the city during the last few days by an automobile in the shape of a huge packet of Life Saver peppermints. The car is on a visit here and will be seen on the downtown streets for the next ten days.

The car, which is $4,000 times the size of a packet of the popular candy, has a wheelbase of 119 inches, and is about thirteen feet long. All the external fittings have been cunningly run into the tubular-shaped body.

W. M. Hunter, driver of the car and local salesman for Life Savers, invited everyone to examine the vehicle and to sample the company's latest product, Life Saver chewing gum.

R. T. Haggart, western division manager of the company, stated that this is one of a fleet of candy-delivery automobiles recently put in service as part of a wide advertising campaign.

Hen Pheasant Raises Brood In Captivity

Duncan, July 6.—A hen pheasant in the flock of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Strouger, Duncan, who breed pheasants for commercial purposes, recently decided to "sit," and produced eight young ones. Hen pheasants are not known to "sit" in captivity and the eggs usually have to be laid under a hen. A female pheasant which Mrs. Strouger sold to Mr. Trot, Duncan, is showing the same propensity.

INFORMAL PICNIC LUNCHES
ENJOYED BY ALL

Picnics and outdoor meals in one's own back yard are the special privilege of hot weather and should be enjoyed to their limit in this particular season. The informality of meals of this type and the delighted anticipation of what is in the picnic basket appeals to children and adults alike. Picnics ought to be a relief and change from kitchen served meals. To make elaborate preparations, to laboriously carry hot dishes, or to cook what can more easily be cooked at home is to detract from the picnic's own particular appeal.

SIMPLE LUNCHES

Sandwiches are usually the substantial foundation of the picnic meal. Of course fried chicken, steaks or vienettes to be cooked over crackling wood fire or charcoal grace the contents of the picnic basket. The playing cannot really be enjoyed until the children have eaten their fill.

To-morrow: "Mother Should Have Knowledge of First Aid."

spaces, sandwiches, a jar of salad, fruit, mixed vegetables, potato or cabbage—some hard-cooked eggs, plain or stuffed, some whole peeled potatoes, a simple sweet of cake or cookies or doughnut and some fruits, offer all that is necessary to satisfy the most robust outdoor appetite.

The type of sandwiches which the child will eat are just as satisfying to the adults. For the mother who must make a choice that will be prove helpful. Be sure to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to this newspaper. Nothing would be more welcome than a child that has driven into the picnic basket and he told that this or that "is not for little folks."

CAUTION NECESSARY

The results of over-eating and of constant munching, which are characteristic aftermaths of picnics, would not be possible were the mother to exercise a little foresight. It cannot be expected that children will play entirely afternoons and not want to eat. Like the other joys of life, picnics for children begin only when the food appears. Start the expedition late in the morning, or very close to supper time so that the children will no more than have time to taste the joys of their new environment before it is time to explore the contents of the picnic basket. The playing cannot really be enjoyed until the children have eaten their fill.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

THE FAMOUS novelist, Louis Untermeyer, who knows the hearts of men and himself a contented husband, gives this advice to wives: "Keep on telling your husband how wonderful he is. Don't ever stop using the word. No man ever gets tired of hearing it."

He speaks an oracle, and how profound is the wisdom that he utters we have continually emphasized before us. For we have daily occasion to observe that the girls who are the most popular with men are neither the high-brows nor the beauties nor mothers' little helpers, but the maidens who have the faculty of looking up adoringly at a man and exclaiming, "How wonderful!"

Not only does the most brilliant conversationalist compete in voice with a little about whom whose repertoire of talk consists of only those two magic words, but they are the "open sesame" to the most invulnerable feminine heart, and simply by repeating them in the proper tones of voice a girl finds the treasures of a good husband.

And that there be words to conjure with after marriage as well as before is also abundantly proved. For husbands tire of domestic wives and good wives and clever wives and industrious, efficient wives and saving wives, and even of the wives who are good-looking, but no man wears of the wife who puts him on a pedestal and burns incense before him, and tells him how wonderful and intelligent and handsome and big and strong he is.

No man ever gets enough adulation to satisfy him, and it is only when a wife grows weary of singing her husband's praises and celebrating his virtues that he begins to look around for a more appreciative audience. As long as a wife makes her home-brewed flattery strong enough, he is content to drink at home.

But while "wonderful" may be the keyword to the puzzle to which a woman is married, there are three other words which she should also include in her vocabulary and which would be an ever-present help to her in times of trouble. The first of these is YES. The wives who perceive their husbands are never those who have to fear the platinum blonde-in-the-office or who spend their old age trying to collect alimony.

They have discovered the secret of how to tame and domesticate wild animals. For husbands have two manias. One is an obsession about being thought the head of the house and having their wives ask their opinion and advice on every subject, and the other is a complex about losing their freedom in marriage.

Now as a matter of fact, men don't care a button about whether their wives belong to this club or that, or whether they have the Bring-ups done in green or brown. They only want to have their authority to decide the question made manifest.

Nor have all husbands roaming feet, but they want to feel free to go out of an evening without asking their wives' permission. And the wider the wife flings the front door, the more likely they are to sit by their own fire-side. Hence the wives who say yes to their husbands keep out of arguments and avoid breakfast-table spats and are able to do as they please, and have husbands who are as domestic as the house cat.

The next word in the wife's vocabulary should not LOVE. Sweet-heart—darling—whatever petting endearment she uses in her courtship. She has a queer idea that heart hunger is strictly a feminine complaint and one from which men never suffer. Barrels of tears are shed over the fact that husbands take their wives for granted and come all love-making at the altar.

But it never seems to occur to wives that their husbands may be as starved for affection as they are and long for some expression of love, some show of tenderness, some indication that they are regarded as something more than a meal ticket and purveyor to the children of real live baby saps and sport cars. There would be very few unfaithful husbands if every wife included in her daily dozen some expression of love for her husband and told him that he was still her Prince Charming, and that she thanked Heaven on her knees for having bestowed him upon her.

Another word that women should never cease saying to their husbands is THANK YOU. Most wives never use it; it is simply not in their vocabularies. They take everything their husbands give them as no more than their due and complain because it isn't more. That is what makes supporting a family a chore. A man works himself to death and never gets even a "thank you" for his labor.

It is so easy to do things for people who appreciate them. It is so hard to have to do things for people who display no gratitude. It would take the drudgery out of many a man's hard and monotonous labor for his wife to make a fuss over everything he gave her. It would make life a joy and a triumph instead of servitude for many a man if his wife told him over and over again that no hero had anything in courage and gallantry over the poor man who spends his life slaving for his family. It would loosen up many a tight-widow's purse if his wife boasted of the pretty frocks and jewels he gave her and if she thanked him for making her life so soft and easy.

The Korean bids the faithful keep their lips moist with the name of Allah always upon them. Many a husband would think he had found Paradise on this earth if his wife kept WONDERFUL, YES, LOVE and THANK YOU on her lips.

UNCLE WIGGLY'S PAPER CAT

By HOWARD R. GARRETT

There was a time in Uncle Wiggy's latter days bungalow not far from Fourth of July had come and gone. The rabbit was still there, though, from way back, and the Geppos were still there for the summer at the seashore.

Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jan Penny were busy getting the bungalow ready. Even littlest rabbit boy and girl, Uncle Wiggy could just see them, were there with their mother and the central lady.

It was different with the little Geppos. They were continually asking what they should do when they reached the seashore and playing tag with the June over and over again. There was a great deal of fun as much noise and confusion in the bungalow as at Fourth of July.

"What I do off by myself?" asked Uncle Wiggy. "I must drive these Geppos away. They will eat up my flowers." Uncle Wiggy put the paper cat on a flat stone. "I'll get the Geppos to eat a little wild onions. I have a little wild onions growing in a little hole in the red paper cat. When the Geppos eat the onions, they will be off me."

"They will spell my peace and quiet," said Uncle Wiggy.

"They will spoil my peace and quiet," said Uncle Wiggy.

English Batsmen Perform Brilliantly In Third Test Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Pat Hendren In Great Stand To Put On 132 Runs

Leads Attack as English Cricketers Score 355 For Five Against Australians.

AUSSIES FIND HEAT HANDICAP

Canadian Press

Manchester, Eng., July 4.—Scoring 355 runs for five wickets England today made a strong start in the third cricket test match against Australia. Each team already has one victory to its credit.

Apart from one over when W. J. O'Reilly, Australian bowler, had the English players at his mercy, the batsmen mastered the Antipodean attack. Pat Hendren, colorful Middlesex professional, had a field day and amassed 132 runs. During most of his time at the wickets he was partnered by Maurice Leyland, Yorkshire, who scored ninety-three not out.

Herbert Sutcliffe, one of the two opening batsmen, played steadily to score thirty-three.

R. E. Wyat, the English captain, had the misfortune to lose his wicket off the first ball delivered by him, and Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire idol, hit one mighty boundary, and fell a victim to O'Reilly's wiles.

In O'Reilly's one triumphant over he dismissed C. F. Walters, after Wyat with the next ball, and after allowing Walter Hammond's one boundary, captured his wicket with two strikes in quick succession.

The Sons drove Lonnie Murray from the sib in the first inning kept nicking his successor to tip up their strike.

Eric Dick opened for the Sons but was replaced in the seventh by Walter who in turn left the mound in favor of Art Carr in the ninth. Red Palmer, with a homer to deep right field and a triple, led the batting attack for the winners.

The victory put the Canadians half game ahead of Sidney, the squad which had led from the start since up to yesterday evening's fixture.

Pitney and Nix are scheduled to play Sidney on Sunday at 3 o'clock on the suburban grounds.

Local Athletes Do Well In Track Meet

SENIOR BALL GAME BILLED

Poodle Dog and Tillcums Meet To-night; Tacoma All-stars Here To-morrow

Vancouver, July 6.—British Columbia's youthful track talent to-day claimed ten new Dominion junior track and field records after the most successful provincial junior meet on record. With the pick of the province's younger athletes on hand, established marks went toppling into the discard yesterday evening in one of the greatest record-breaking performances on a British Columbia track.

To-night the seniors step out in their last eliminations to decide the B.C. contingent to travel to Hamilton for the Canadian team British Empire Games trials.

Along with the new marks set in the 100, 440, 880, mile, twelve-pound shot put, discus, javelin, high and broad jump and pole vault, a junior Canadian record was equaled in the 120-yard hurdles.

The 120-yard hurdles mark was equalled when Gerald Kennedy, Salmon Arm, came in first in 17.3-10 seconds.

INDIVIDUAL STAR

Jim McCommon, Vancouver, was the individual star of the meet with three new Dominion marks to his credit. Among them the discuss 12 feet 10 inches to beat the old record by 15 feet 7½ inches. His javelin throw of 156 feet 3 inches bettered the existing record by 31 feet 2 inches. And he hung up his third record in the twelve-pound shot put with a heave of 45 feet 1¾ inches. The old mark was 42 feet 8½ inches.

Marshall Limon, youthful Vancouver ace, won the 220 and 440-yard events, setting a new record in the latter when he flashed over the distance in 50.5 seconds. Paul Morris, from the Victoria T.M.C.A., was second, a scant two feet back of the winner, in the 220, and Lorne MacGregor, Howe's clubmate, passed Limon to the tape in 440.

Martin Maynor, Vancouver, set a new broad jump mark of 32 feet 8 inches, 8½ inches better than the old mark.

Alex Lukas, Vancouver, won the high jump at 5 feet 10½ inches, with James Cousins, Victoria, second. Cousins failed to clear the bar at the 5-foot-10½-inch mark. The old Dominion junior mark is 5 feet 8½ inches.

KEEN FINISH

Timing his finishing sprint to perfection, Jack Schuberg, Mission, nixed out Alex Macaulay, Vancouver, in the one-mile grind, setting another record in 4:41.3-5, one-fifth of a second faster than the existing mark.

The final two records were set in the 100 and 220 yards.

Howard McPhee, Vancouver High School champion sprinter, clipped one-fifth of a second from the old record for the shorter distance when he sped over the route in 10.1.

The 880-yard mark went to Albert Cook, Victoria, who can the half-mile in 2:03.2-8, with William Dale, Victoria, a close second. The old mark is 2.06 4-5.

THE NOT SO HELPING HAND

of the medium of exchange. The other 90 per cent is a myth created by the banks in their ledgers. The Bank of Canada, through its government, has no control over the medium of exchange—another fact that the Banking Committee began to find out. The Bennett government, through its privately-owned central bank, is going to see that the nation never shall have any control over this most vital factor in its whole economic system. If banking committees and parliaments and the public can only be kept sublimely ignorant, everything is going to be all right—for those who do have control.

GETTING RICH

THIS WAY to get rich, says Mr. Irvin Cobb, is to collect something. Anything will do—except money or securities of any sort. You never know about money or securities, of course. They may lose their value at any moment. But if you can find something perfectly useless, and utterly valueless, then you can be sure that if you hang on to it long enough, it will be worth a fortune.

Stamps now in use, torn off your daily letters, undoubtedly will bring fabulous sums—in a hundred years. If human intelligence has shown no great improvement in the interim, which is a minor risk. Lucky fellows are continually coming across old stamps in garrets and cellars, left there as waste paper by their ancestors and now sought after by collectors with maniacal desire. All you have to do is hang on to something with-out value and live long enough and you will be rich.

Mr. Cobb bitterly laments that he didn't hang on to some old-fashioned iron bootjacks or brass cuspidors, or dime novels, or old models of oil lamps, or side-show banners, or cigar store Indians or buggy whips—anything at all; so long as it had no value at the time, meant nothing, and could not possibly have any real use in the future, and was bound to look weird and incredible to the next generation.

For example, I am piling up a monstrous fortune by collecting the platforms of Canadian political parties, the acts of the B.C. Legislature, prime ministers' announcements etc., if the P.G.E. will be sold, newspaper reports about Caddy, the sea serpent, editorials in The Colonist on banking, women's hats, the economic predictions of this column, and the pictures of babies now being published on the front page of this newspaper. The last, to be added in blackmailing—the unfortunate subjects when they are grown men and women, and are about to get married or go into politics, should be priceless.

WICKED PLOT

THIS ORIGIN of the plot is obscure. Of course, it had always been known next door that if you pulled a tooth and put it under your pillow, the fairies would come in the night and remove it, leaving a nickel in its place, or even a dime. That belongs to the common store of public knowledge in these parts. But where this other devilish conspiracy to cheat the fairies originated, I cannot say.

All we know is that this little girl from next door began to put teeth under her pillow with remarkable regularity. On three successive nights the fairies had to remove them and supply nickels in their place. When the little boy next door called for cash account of two teeth much too big to fit into his mouth, the fairies, fearing bankruptcy, began to investigate.

By comparing the number of teeth presented for payment in cash with the number of gaps in the two little mouths next door, they became convinced that something was wrong. For every gap they found they had paid out at least two nickels, and that made them rather annoyed. They decided to communicate their suspicions to the mother and father next door, who continued the inquiry.

The little girl next door maintained a stony silence under stern questioning. Her brother would only say "teeth" and "nickel," with a look of sublime ignorance, like a banking committee. But in a moment of weakness, after a good dinner, with ice cream, he broke down and confessed the ghastly truth. He even led investigators to the scene of the crime, in the oak woods, near the hollow tree. There was discovered the bleached jawbones of a small animal, thought to be a cat or a dog, from which four teeth had been removed. "Haw," was the young criminal's only comment on the crime.

The fairies were reported to be greatly upset. And if you don't believe it, go out into the oak woods, near the hollow tree, and you will see the bleached jawbones with four teeth missing.

Atlanta, Ga., July 6 (Associated Press)—If Willard Grubbs, nineteen, had to have an accident, he could not have picked a better time and place. Willards motorcycle struck a parked automobile. Two physicians were passing. They pulled him from the wreckage, found he had a broken leg, stripped off their coats and set the fracture. An automobile running board was the operating table.

LINER FLIES STRANGE FLAG

Ss. President Hoover at San Francisco Flying Flag of the Philippines

Ron Pedro, July 6.—A new and strange flag was flying at the foreyard of the liner President Hoover when she arrived here direct from the Orient and Honolulu yesterday morning. It was the red, white, blue and gold banner of the Philippine Islands, making its first appearance at this port.

Capt. Fred Anderson, veteran manager of the President Hoover, had the flag of the islands hoisted as a special

BROTHERS MAKE LAST RUNS

Len and Al Solloway, the two Vancouver locomotive engineers of the Canadian Pacific Railway who retired July 1 after forty-seven years' service, are shown above beside the main drive wheel of a "7000" engine, which they have been driving on the Dominion Limited between Vancouver and North Bend. Both joined the railway at Port Moody in 1887 and have been riding the rails together practically side by side for nearly half a century. They married sisters, making themselves brother-in-law as well as brothers. Ruled two of the finest engineers ever to operate on the British Columbia district, the Solloway brothers will be greatly missed on the Vancouver division.

EX-RUM RUNNER MAKES RESCUE

Stumble Inn Tows Little Fishing Schooner Which Kept Afloat By Barrels

North Sydney, N.S., July 6.—Bessie Stumble Inn, seagoing convert from the ranks of the Great Lakes rum-runners, has added another chapter to the thrilling story of her salt-water adventures as one of Canada's courageous patrol fleet.

It is one of rescue at sea—the rescue of a leaking schooner kept afloat by empty barrels lashed around her hull.

It happened off Cape Breton Island this week, and the Stumble Inn's men told of it as their grey-hulled craft lay in harbor to-day. They were en route to the Grand Banks when the little fishing schooner Gladys Ella, a wash in a turbulent sea and leaking badly

IN DANGER

Her engine disabled, the Gladys Ella had been blown against the rock of St. Paul's Island in a storm. Captain Ridout and his men got her off, but found her bottom had been punctured so badly by the rocks she was in danger of sinking.

While the sea poured into the helpless craft, the skipper and his men swiftly emptied the oil barrels on deck. Made fast to the hull, they formed emergency pontoons that kept the washed-out vessel afloat until the rescuing Stumble Inn picked her up offshore as she drifted seaward before a strong wind. The cutter towed her into harbor at White Point.

The Ella was just another incident in the adventurous career of the Stumble Inn. On the Great Lakes as a rum-runner she had many a hazardous run, and also when she came down to the Atlantic, still a liquor carrier.

The Ella will return to Vancouver to-morrow evening, bound for the Orient. She will be here on Saturday, July 14, on her way across the Pacific.

DEPORTED TO UNITED STATES

Southampton, July 6.—Abraham Lakerman, 21, son of Solman Tuchin, was deported yesterday by immigration authorities. Lakerman is returning to the United States without having had an opportunity to explain a plan which he said would have given employment to about 8,000 persons in London.

Arrived Wednesday by the d/s Aquitania. Authorities noted he was using the name "Laker" but that his passport gave him the name "Lakerman." He was held aboard ship for twenty-four hours and yesterday was taken under escort to the U.S. Marshall, whom he sailed shortly thereafter.

Lakerman did not enlarge upon his employment scheme.
